

NEIGHBORS

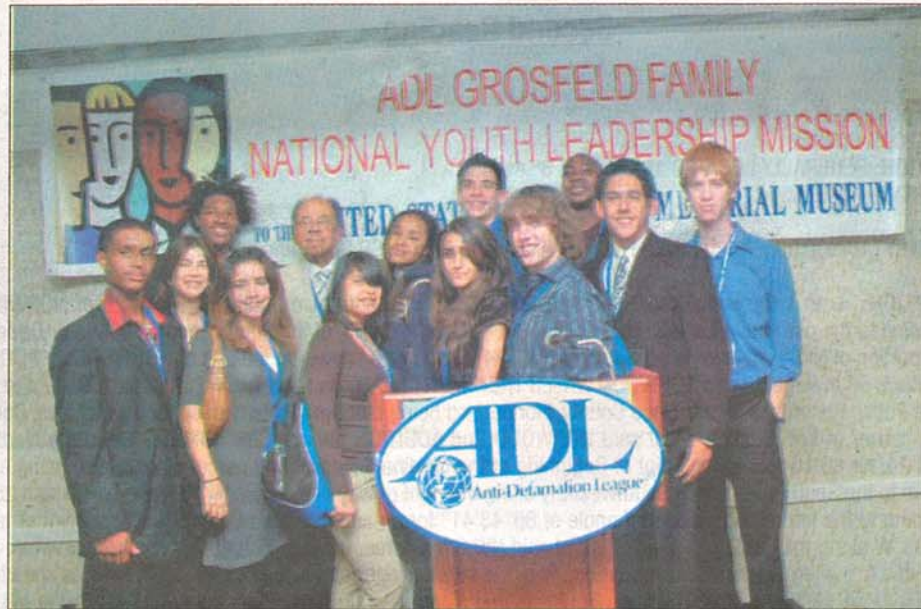

| EDITOR: CAROLYN GUNISS | 305-376-4565 | MiamiHerald.com/Neighbors

NET The Miami Herald

NC MiamiHerald.com/Neighbors | THE MIAMI HERALD | THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 2008 | 12

SCHOOL SCENE

HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS

TOMORROW'S LEADERS: Several Miami-Dade high school students attended the 10th annual Anti-Defamation League Grosfeld Family National Youth Leadership Mission in Washington, D.C., where they learned about the Holocaust and how to apply lessons learned to today's problems. Back row from left are: Asim Lynch, Dr. Leon Bass, Leah Kaplan, Elliott Rimón, Bennie Barnes and Sam Huber; front row: Jedly Joseph, Alyse Weiner Vilarello, Kelly Bonilla, Christina Alvarez, Raanah Amjadi, Peter Edelson and Alexander Porro.

Safe Dates, a new anti-violent teen dating program, is being presented in Miami-Dade Public Schools.

The program raises awareness for both students and parents, and helps them identify, prevent and find help with issues of dating abuse.

Through interactive activities and role playing, its goal is to help teens be safe in their healthy relationships.

The program is sponsored by the Jewish Community Services of South Florida and The Children's Trust.

To learn more about the program, call 305-672-8080 or e-mail hlozano@jcsfl.org.

STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT DIVERSITY

The following Miami-Dade

high school students recently attended the 10th annual Anti-Defamation League Grosfeld Family National Youth Leadership Mission held in Washington, D.C.:

Asim Lynch, Leah Kaplan, Elliott Rimón, Bennie Barnes, Sam Huber, Jedly Joseph, Alyse Weiner Vilarello, Kelly Bonilla, Christina Alvarez, Raanah Amjadi, Peter Edelson and Alexander Porro.

The students came from the Ben Lipson Hillel Community High School, North Miami Beach High School, Dr. Michael M. Krop High School, Miami Country Day School, North Miami Senior High School and Pine Crest School.

They learned about the Holocaust and how to apply the lessons of the past to current issues of racism and intolerance in their schools and communities.

CORPORATE ACADEMY NORTH

The Business and Entrepreneurship Program recently formed a tutoring program to help students prepare for the FCAT.

The program was mandatory for all sophomores but also available to other students who wanted to improve their test scores.

FIENBERG-FISHER K-8 CENTER

Jasmine Rose and Sebastian Castillo will meet with elected officials at a national